AN INDEPENDENT WEEKLY JOURNAL OF LITERATURE, EDUCATION, POLI-TICS, GENERAL NEWS, AND ES-PECIALLY OF LOCAL IN-TERESTS.

All Political and Local questions, including political and social, sanitary and reformatory, educational and industrial topics, will be clearly presented and fully and fairly discussed.

It is intended and expected to make it not only acceptable and interesting to the general reader, but of special value to citizens of Essex county and of real importance to every reader of Bloomfield, Montclair, Caldwell, Belleville and Verona.

Nothing will be admitted to its columns at its unworthy of a cordial welcome to any family circle.

It is intended to make it a valuable medium. Its circulation extends to every part of Essex county, and considerably elsewhere.

Subscriptions and advertisements will be received and forwarded by the Postmaster, who will be allowed to retain their merit.

These Pictures have a semi-transparent effect the shadows give them a mellowness of tint and impart a soft delicate texture to the com-

LIFE'S VOYAGE.

BY T. B. WELCH.

I'm out on life's rough sea,
Bound to eternity.

Of God be my guide!

In my frail bark I stray, No hope, no cheer, no day, Driven by the winds away, Unless Thy voice.

O Jesus! be my guide,
Be ever by my side,
I cannot see the shore;
Lead on the labyrinth,
For I am lost and sore—Oh! comfort me.

It is an art in the ship,
A whisper from thy lip, Calms every fear,
I smile at all my
At the very hour,
It through the fiercest storm, Thy voice I hear.

With calmness now I'll ride, Close clinging to thy guide,
Who holds the helm,
I know he sees the light, Reflecting the glad light, Within the beam.

Now let the tempest roar,
And let the billows roar,
And all be dark,
The wild whell's furious blast Will speed me onward fast, I'll stop on shore at last,
From my frail bark.

—Methodist.

OUR NEW YORK CORRESPOND-

ENCE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13, 1874.

LITERARY NOTES.

The Fall book trade will open lively enough to make up for the dullness of the summer business. Messrs. Scribner, Ar-strong & Co. offer a tempting array of publications for the long evenings that will soon be here, a number of which have already been announced. They will publish immediately, Volumes Two and Three of Frank's Journal, and Volume Five of Curtius's Greece, completing both works. Students of the Fine Arts will find an excellent guide in the Lectures of the late Professor Torrey of the University of Vermont.

The "Theological and Philosophical Library," which was inaugurated by "Luther's History of Philosophy," will have an important addition in "Van Coester's Dogmatics," a work of marked ability and learning. An original work in the same field is "God in Human Thought," by Dr. E. H. Gillett, Professor in the University of New York, and widely known as the author of "The Life and Times of John Hall."

"Long's Commentary" will receive an important addition in the volume on Job, which contains an Essay on Hebrew Poetry by Dr. S. Hall, and a Metrical Version of Job, by Dr. Taylor Lewis. The latter, with Prof. Keane, has translated and edited the Commentary proper. The "Speaker's Commentary" will be further extended by the issue of the fifth volume, embracing Isaiah, by Rev. W. K. W. D. D., Jeremiah, by Rev. R. B. Smith, D. D., Ezekiel, by Rev. G. C. Curry, D. D., Daniel, by Rev. H.
J. Rose, D. D.

In general literature we already have "The Earth as Modified by Human Action," by Wm. George P. Marsh, U. S. Minister to Italy. Mr. Whitney will also give to the public shortly, a second series of his "Oriental Linguistic Studies." An important addition to text book literature will be found in the American edition of the "Manual of Mythology," by Alex. S. Murray, of the department of Greek and Roman Antiquities in the British Museum.

The next volume of the justly popular "Bible Base" series will be "Prosper Merimee's Letters to an Incurable and Twenty-five Years of My Life," by Lumartine. A few passages from the "Recollections and Impressions" of George Sand will follow.

Wide interest has lately been excited in the results of the "Explorations in Nineveh, Assyria and Babylonia," by Mr. Geo.
Smith of the British Museum, the distinguished oriental scholar. Mr. Smith's researches corroborated in so remarkable a manner the Sacred Record that there has naturally been the greatest anxiety to procure his own account of them in a complete and unadorned form. The volume, which will be published by Messrs. Scribner, Armstrong & Co., under a special arrangement with the author, will be fully illustrated with wood cuts and with photographic reproductions of the most important inscriptions. A most interesting and important book of Travel will be found in "Notes of a Journey in 1873 in the Russian Province of Turkistan, the Khanates of Kokand, and Bokhara, and Provinces of Khokand," by Eugene Schuyler, Ph.D., Secretary of the American Legation, at St.
Petersburg. A volume by Dr. Horst, entitled "Life in the Fatherland," may also be classed as a book of travels. It is the result of a four years' professional residence in Germany. In the list of illustrated books, is "Travels Across South America," translated from the French of Paul Marcey. This is said to be by far the most superbly illustrated book of travels ever offered for sale in this country. It is in two volumes, and besides several maps, contains over five hundred wood engravings.
Prof. Schiele De Vere has just translated "Myths of the Rhine," from the French.
Not many have known that Dr. Holland has been busy during the Summer upon a poem, into which he has put some of the best work of his life. "The Mistress of the Marsh" will be given to the world in the coming Fall, by Scribner, Armstrong & Co., and we doubt not will win a large and immediate audience. There is one thing certain about the Mistress of the Marsh, and to whom we are referring, and that is that it is a poem of a true and noble heart, and always goes straight to the heart of the people. The source of "The Mistress of the Marsh" is laid on the banks of the Hudson; it is a love story, beginning where many love stories have of late begun. It is a story of striking pictures of natural scenery, it is full of the philosophy of life which comes from pure experience, and it is distinguished by all that comprehension of the human every day life and of that impulse and intensity which have from the beginning characterized the writings of its author.

CHURCH MUSIC.

The constantly improving taste in music in matters of church music, has led to the in our churches. The Roman Catholic and Episcopal Churches have always paid more attention to their musical services than have those of other denominations.
It is estimated that out of the three hundred and thirty or forty churches in New York, two-thirds employ paid musicians. Placing the average amount of money expended for this purpose by each church at a low figure, it reaches at least three hundred and fifty thousand dollars a year.

The average price for singers is, for sophomore, eight hundred dollars, tenors, six hundred, contraltos, six hundred, and bas-ses, five hundred. In exceptional cases, however, one thousand dollars have been paid to a soprano or tenor.

In our examination into this subject of church music, we discovered that there are regular agents or choir brokers in the city. The business of these agents is to keep a list of the names and addresses of singers and organists, and when a church wants a singer or a singer wants a church, they consult an agency and their mutual service is supplied. Mr. Wardell, of 118 Broadway, has been the longest in the business of any man in New York. He has the name and history of every church singer in or out of the city, and is known far and wide as an authority on all such matters.

Of the present choir, that of St.
Thomas's Episcopal church, is among the most attractive. George Wm. Warren is organist there, besides which there is a harp. Mr.
Toulmin, who takes a regular part in the service. The quartette is composed of Mrs. Gallagher, Miss Finch, Mr. Nelson and Mr. Morawski, together with a volunteer chorus of fifty voices, which is strictly trained by Mr. Warren. The music, sung in this church, is of the highest order, being selections from every source, opera, ballet, and Mr. Warren's own compositions. The effect is certainly attractive, and the choir is the best of its kind in the city. Young Dr. Tyng's church, Holy Trinity, pays considerable attention to its musical services, and its choir is well trained. The Salvati, an unusually fine church singer, is the soprano there, and Mr. S. P. Warren, organist. Grace church, Dr. Potter's, has good music; George Simpson, tenor, is their most distinguished singer, and has been there for years. At St. Ann's, in downtown, they have a boy choir, and the only pure choral service in the city. They have two organs and two organists.

The music at the Congregational Taber church is under the charge of the tenor, Mr.
R. C. Wood. Mr. Christopher is organist and the choir consists of a double quortette. At the Memorial Church, Dr. Rollins, they have a good volunteer choir, and the congregation is in the singing.
Dr. Robinson is a musical man himself. At Dr. Howard Crosby's Church, Presbyterian, they have a precentor, and the singing is of the highest order. By the way, why could not be a good choir have a precentor lead the choir instead of a precentor?
Such an instrument could certainly carry the air stronger than one man's voice.

Caryl Florio, the composer of some beautiful madrigals and other music, is organist at the First Church, Presbyterian, and the next volume in the
